Corporate Responsibility in Magnox North

Community – caring for our surroundings

Magnox North's graduates undertake a Corporate Responsibility project as part of their company induction and this group donned their dirty clothes, spades and PPE to rejuvenate a playground and garden area at the William Bellamy School in Dagenham.

The group, made up of Magnox North and Magnox South graduates commented that the experience helped them to understand the role business can and should play in the local community.

Chapelcross undertakes a highly successful and nationally recognised joint local partnership with Hecklegirth and Eastriggs Primary Schools.

The partnership comes under the Scottish Government's 'Determined to Succeed' Initiative which encourages businesses to enter into partnerships with schools to improve the attitudes and skills of young people by creating environments where enterprise can flourish.

Magnox North's EHSSQ team spent a recent team build working with The Forestry Commission to pull Himalayan Balsam at one of their sites near Glazebury in Warrington.

This is an example of a team committed to 'giving something back' to the community.

70 students from Llangefni Secondary School took part in Wylfa's first ever Build iT3, hosted jointly by Wylfa and Careers Wales.

The aim of the event was to develop the students' planning and communication skills for the future.

Workplace – caring for our people i4 – an eye for opportunity. The Oldbury team pick up the prize for best implemented idea at this year's awards, which aim to encourage innovation across the business.

The i4 concept will be introduced across Magnox South this year.

A number of health and wellbeing initiatives have been undertaken in Magnox North including a Work-Life Balance day at Chapelcross and the establishment of a gym facility at Wylfa.

The Magnox North Site Joint Councils (SJC's) and the Company Joint Consultative and Negotiating Committee (CJC) hold a regular workshop.

The main purpose of the workshop was to get the CJC and SJC's working more effectively together, with input from the management team.

Magnox North staff fundraise for a number of good causes each year with Breast Cancer Awareness, Comic Relief and Children In Need widely supported.

Marketplace – working effectively with suppliers

Magnox North and Magnox South met with over 100 representatives of its supply chain in Manchester in June to discuss opportunities for work and the future of the business.

This was the latest in a series of events held to engage with suppliers – helping us to become a good client.

Magnox North celebrates as 'Client of the Year' in the 'Construction Excellence Wales' awards 2009.

The 'Client of the Year' category identifies organisations demonstrating the greatest drive to ensure best practice throughout its supply chain. Magnox North's submission was based around supply chain improvement and best practice in the delivery of construction projects.

Environment – caring for the environment

Local primary schools benefiting from donations of fruit trees from Chapelcross as part of World Environment Day celebrations.

Hunterston A's Ian Anderson and Bob Bainbridge submit their environmental suggestions to Gillian Wilson, Radiological and Environment Clerk.

Oldbury's environment team take their skills out to a local primary school, where ongoing support is provided to support the upkeep of the grounds.
